Bird Watching

Annette is a beginning bird watcher, inspired by the migratory birds that live in Hawaii for part of the year. She will take you on a personalized bird watching tour of O'ahu. You will be picked up at your bed and breakfast, vacation rental, hotel or at the cruise ship in the morning. You will see the three endangered Hawaiian waterbirds, migratory shorebirds in season, seabirds and numerous urban or introduced birds. Occasionally, we can spot a native Hawaiian forest bird or two, but usually that involves some hiking.

Guided Tours

As a resident of Hawaii prior to it becoming the 50th state, Annette has seen O'ahu change from a small, rural sugar-based economy with a capitol city, to a visitor-based economy with subdivisions replacing the green fields of sugar cane and a major urban center. In spite of the growth, O'ahu has incredible natural beauty and a rural charm which can still be seen in windward O'ahu and along the North shore.

A day-long guided drive will be based on what your interests are. You will see O'ahu from a local resident's perspective. Enjoy knowing some of the background of what you are seeing as you set out on a leisurely journey; ask questions, stop for photos, get off the beaten path.

Annette will regale you with personal memories and anecdotes of how it used to be and you will experience Hawaiian hospitality in this truly unique Hawaiian tradition of driving guests around the island.
